• PROJECT NAME	Neighbourhood Security Survey
• TYPE OF PRACTICE	Citizens' participation and urban planning
• CITIES AND/OR COMMUNITIES, COUNTRY/IES	Sweden
• IMPLEMENTED SINCE…
• BRIEF DESCRIPTION	Survey guidelines and handbooks available on the National Council for Crime Prevention's website. The objective is to get neighbours to take their community into their own hands and make changes needed where possible themselves, and otherwise inform the relevant authorities to make the changes.
• PROMOTING OR LEADING ENTITIES	Swedish National Council for Crime Prevention, Swedish Government, Swedish National Board of Housing, Building and Planning, Göteborgs Centrala Brottsförebiggande Råd.
• PARTICIPANTS	Eminent members of the community (politicians, churches, police chiefs, medical staff...), general public.
• OBJETIVES	Get neighbours to work together to improve the safety in their neighbourhoods. Create relations, improve urban design, foster the feeling of security...
• TARGETS	General public.
• MAIN RESULTS	Various positive results throughout the country, though it is difficult to quantify the results.
• METHODOLOGY	Any individual may carry out a survey and download or request the handbook from the National Council for Crime Prevention. There are 3 phases in the survey: 1) Pre-meeting: Neighbours gather and discuss what securiy means to them and how they consider various public areas at different times of the day. These areas will be visited by smaller groups. 2) The smaller groups visit the relevant areas and discuss how they feel there, what the problems are and how it could be improved. 3) At a third and final meeting, everyone comes together and the reports on the smaller group visits are shared. Ideas are shared on how to improve the various areas and it is discussed whether the residents themselves can do anything, or which bodies need to made aware of the issues so that they may be resolved.

• EVALUATION INDICATORS / METHOD	Follow-up surveys are arranged to see whether the actions promised by the various responsible persons have been carried out and to discuss whether there is anything new that needs attention.
• DEGREE OF SUCCESS (EVALUATION RESULTS)	Various positive results throughout the country, though it is difficult to quantify the results.
